A horse dicker that took place between Ed Burke and I. S. Mucci some time ago was aired in Justice Field's court yesterday. Now is the time to buy homes cheap on monthly payments. We have about thirty cottage houses and several good residences that we can sell very low. Lougee & Towle, 235 Pearl street.

A Week for Little Ones.
It seems to be a general complaint by ladies interested in children's and infants' wear that merchants don't seem to pay much attention to that class of merchandise.

The above remark to some extent is true, but the Boston store will be the one to different light this week, as their show window on this class of goods will convince you that such is the case.

No one interested in this line can afford to miss seeing window display, and most of all the extremely low prices. This sale of infants' and children's wear is spread over this week only, and will be one of the most interesting features of our Syndicate May Sale. But don't forget bargains in other departments, which are numerous, and every article just as advertised.

NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Prospects that a Successor to Judge Deemer Will Not Be Appointed.

WILL WAIT UNTIL HE CAN BE ELECTED

Governor Jackson is Not Inclined to Name a Man for the Place and His Judgment is Endorsed by the Local Bar.

There seems to be some doubt just now as to whether Governor Jackson will appoint any one to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Judge Deemer to a position on the supreme bench of Iowa. As has already been mentioned, there are four candidates at least, each of whom is putting his best foot foremost in the laudable endeavor to capture Judge Deemer's brogans, and whichever one receives the coveted appointment, there will be at least three who are disappointed. Yesterday a letter was received from H. W. Byers of Harlan, chairman of the republican judicial district committee, asking what was thought of the plan of allowing the office to remain vacant until a convention could be held for the purpose of making a nomination. A round-up of the republican attorneys was made, and the feeling seemed to be general among them that F. the thirteenth could be patient, since it would be better to have the appointment made in this way, rather than by the governor. It is commonly understood that the governor is not inclined to assume any responsibility in the matter. It is thought likely that the convention scheme will be adopted, although it has not been definitely decided yet. If the convention is held, it will probably be for some time in June.

Cheap and Safe Security.
Even $2,000 for even $2! See a had investment, is it? Yet that is the cost and not result of an investment that Luther G. Mair of Council Bluffs made for his family a few weeks ago, and yesterday that money, in good, honest cash, was paid. During the latter part of January Mr. Mair became a member of the Guaranty Fund Life association, and when accepted was in the most vigorous health. He paid his first assessment of $2 at the time of joining, and before the time for the second assessment to be paid came around he sickened and died, and the full value of his two certificates was paid to his widow. Although the company reserves the right to delay payment for ninety days, the policies would have been made a month earlier if Mr. Mair's death had occurred two days sooner, as the assessment would then have been included in the February business. Mrs. Mair acknowledges in strong terms her obligations to the company for the prompt and full settlement of the claim. On the day previous $2,000 was paid by the Guaranty people to the heirs of Mr. Mair. Mr. Sherman had been the holder of two certificates in the Guaranty Fund association since March, 1889. From that time until the payment of his last assessment the total cost of carrying his two certificates has been just $23.20.

These, of course, are exceptional cases, but when taken in connection with the stupendous growth of the Guaranty Fund Life and its fellow organization, the United States Masonic Benevolent association, is another indication that the days of high-priced old style life insurance are over. Since the slight change made in the plan of the Guaranty Fund at the annual meeting last January, which took effect February 15, by which a flat assessment policy was issued, the net increase of business has been over $2,000,000. And the greater part of this increase has occurred in the last thirty days, and the greatest of all in the last week, when more than $250,000 of new business was turned into Secretary Jameson's office.

The point that should be most strongly emphasized by these facts is that there are no other life companies that afford guaranteed protection at such low cost as these two western giants of Council Bluffs, the Guaranty Fund Life and Masonic Benevolent. Each company issues a policy at a guaranteed rate, ranging from $13.32 per $1,000 to $40.44, from ages 21 to 60, which is a shade less than 50 per cent of the average cost under the old systems for the same insurance. There is no excuse for people of Council Bluffs and Omaha sending their money to eastern cities to increase the hoard of eastern capital when the best results to be obtained in modern insurance can be procured at home.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS.
The Sunday school workers of Council Bluffs are perfecting an organization which promises to increase the effectiveness of their work along that line. A meeting of church workers along that line. A meeting was held at the Presbyterian church parlors Tuesday night, at which about seventy-five were present. An informal conference was held, and the decision reached to organize the new organization, "The Sunday School Workers union." Committees were appointed to prepare a constitution and to arrange a program for the next meeting, which will be held at the city hall on Thursday night. One purpose of the union is to arrange for occasional meetings, at which various features of Sunday school work will be discussed. Another purpose is to have a house-to-house canvass of the city, which is to be distributed among the several churches, for the purpose of increasing the number of Sunday school scholars. There are in Council Bluffs twenty Sunday schools. Twelve of these were represented in this first gathering, and others, whose delegates could not be present, sent messages endorsing the movement, so that the projectors expect to soon have nearly every school in the city actively interested in this union effort.BENNINGSON BROS.

OPPOSED TO MACADAM.

City Engineer Rosewater Declares It Would Be a Poor Investment.

"What do I think of the proposed plans for macadamizing the county roads?" said City Engineer Andrew Rosewater in response to an inquiry by a reporter. "I have no occasion to change my opinion, as I pressed in my report to the commissioners a year ago."

"What was that?"
"Simply this. That the first element of a first class road is an unyielding base, and an unyielding base depends on the character of the soil and good subdrainage.""Isn't that substantially covered in the proposed plan?"
"In my opinion, no. Our clay soil yields to the effects of traffic and to the upheaval of frost. Frost attacks any saturated soil. To avoid frost the water should be taken out of the soil; that can only be done by surface and thorough subdrainage."

"Yes, but the conditions are different from ours. The soil of Joplin is gravelly and rocky. I am personally familiar with it, for I made the sewerage plans for that city. Kansas City is also on a bed of lime stone rock. Our soil is a retentive clay. A mere eight or ten-inch layer of broken stone will be a failure within a few years. Traffic will sink it unevenly, and wheels on the narrow roads will rut them. The result will be either miserable undulating rutted roads or large bill for annual maintenance."

"But don't they have similar roads in parks and boulevards?"
"Yes, parks and boulevards are regulated. Heavy traffic is excluded from them. Only light vehicle traffic is allowed there, and even then the boulevards are costly to maintain.""What are your views as to the paving of county roads?"
"I have my own peculiar views as to Douglas county. It is only fourteen miles wide from north to south, and about thirty miles east and west. It is a great main road, as nearly straight as practicable, within certain limits of gradients. That road would pave on a concrete base, and subdrain it to protect it against destructive action of frosts. Such a road would be ten miles shorter than the crooked roads we have. Ten miles saved in distance is a saving of $150,000 in paving grade, and $150,000 saved in paving can grade 1,500,000 cubic yards. That rough grading would give us good grade on a straight road and save ten miles in distance, and the cost of ten miles of maintenance.""Haven't the county officials surveyed and profiled all the roads so that they can tell how they are comparatively as to distance and grade?"
"From all I learn they haven't accurate profiles of any one of the roads they propose to pave beyond a distance of three or four miles.""Then you don't seem to think the county board is acting very wisely in their paving projects?"
"No, not if the published reports of proceedings are correct. But, before I forget it, in speaking of the main straight road, let me say that if such a road were built no part of three no part of the county would be more than seven miles from this thoroughfare. This would enable the macadamizing of cheap, light traffic local roads all along the line.""Then your opinion of the economic feature of the three proposed macadam roads is not very favorable?"
"No, I think that with that, as our experience with wooden pavements, justifies the conclusion that the expenditure would be a waste."Span of a Bridge Gives Way.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

The Court Has One More Round with the Gambler.

A WOMAN AS THE PROSECUTING WITNESS

Former Charges Against the Knights of the Green Cloth Dismissed and New Ones Filed - Magle City Notes.

Several efforts have been made in South Omaha to prosecute men who were charged with gambling. Dozen or more arrests have been made from time to time, but in each instance up to the present time nothing has come of the raids and prosecutions.

A few days ago a woman, who was closely veiled, went to Justice Montgomery's court and lodged a complaint against seven South Omaha gamblers, claiming that her husband had lost $2,000. The gamblers claim that no person, except possibly the man who run the games, has lost $2,000 in the town in that many years. The woman signed the name "Mary O'Brien" to the complaints. This is a peculiar way to spell the old-fashioned Hibernian O'Brien, but the judge says he took the woman to be incompetent to spell O'Brien, as most Frenchmen spell it, and thought nothing more of it. Z. P. Hodges accompanied the woman and is prosecuting the cases.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Assistant County Attorney Troupe came down to the city and appeared before Justice Montgomery to look into the cases. There was nothing developed to show who had sent for the gentleman, but he was on hand, and the first thing he did was to draw up new complaints and asked that the former ones be dismissed. Mr. Troupe stated that it was not more than common courtesy that when a state case was brought to the city attorney should be notified and that he be given exclusive charge of the proceedings from its inception.

Justice Montgomery here took occasion to explain the attitude of the court. He said that the woman had come to him, as he believed, in good faith. If the court had been imposed upon and any person had dared to deceive him by bringing an action for the purpose of extorting money from the gamblers he would be the first to denounce any such person. He believed that the complaints had been filed in good faith and he refused to dismiss the first complaints until the constable had made his return on all of the defendants. All the men mentioned in the complaint except Charles Stephen were found. The constable was still looking for him last night.

Attorney Doud appeared for some of the defendants and made a motion to have the court dismiss the first complaints filed, on the ground that the action had been brought under a fictitious name and for the purpose of extorting money from the defendants. He claimed that his motion came in ahead of the one filed by the assistant county attorney. The court said he would not rule upon the motion until the next day.
